Political Power Dressing

Well-dressed Washingtonian behind Styleauteur and the "Political Style" column for The Huffington Post shares her style musts.

The founder of image strategy firm Styleauteur and a "Political Style" columnist for The Huffington Post, Lauren Rothman dishes on her favorite pieces and her fashion philosophy.

"My style philosophy is to always love what you wear and understand that less is more. My favorite place to shop is my closet, and if it's too full, I won't see the gems."

Necklace: Judith Hendler. "My mother-in-law is one of the most stylish women I know, and she recently sent me a treasure chest full of Judith Hendler's vintage Lucite pieces."

Cuff and clutch: Anne Fontaine. "I love how this woven leather cuff accents my necklace."

Dress: Milly. "I love a great dress! My favorite part of this one is the fun but subtle shoulder cut-out."

Shoes: Christian Louboutin. "I never tire of these red soles. D'Orsay-style pumps add a sophisticated touch."
