

SHARE

STYLE & FASHION | ON TREND

Just How Important Is a Presidential Candidate's Hair?

Donald Trump's comb-over has become the President's sartorial signature. Can any of the democratic presidential candidates compete when it comes to memorable hairdos?

By Jacob Gallagher

Aug. 12, 2019 11:51 am ET

PRINT

TEXT

47

AFTER LAST MONTH'S two Democratic primary presidential debates, one thing was certain: Never before in the history of political campaigns have we seen such a diverse array of...hair styles. Compared to the straightforward, crisply combed styles that Republican candidates typically sported in 2016, the coifs of the 20 Democrats on stage ran the full gamut: from Cory Booker's cue-ball dome to Joe Biden's shock-white mop to Tulsi Gabbard's gray streak. At this early stage, with an array of candidates that rivals the number of toilet-paper rolls in a big-box value pack, hair is one of the few things that voters may actually...

TO READ THE FULL STORY

SUBSCRIBE

SIGN IN

WHAT TO READ NEXT...

PAID PROGRAM ✕

REDA | WSJ CUSTOM CONTENT

The Elegant Athlete

Rewoolution—weaving sustainable wool into luxurious athleisure wear.

FIND OUT MORE

The Wall Street Journal news organization was not involved in the creation of this content.